This program was developed by the Canadian Academy of Geriatric Psychiatry and co-developed with Canadian Coalition for Seniors' Mental Health and was planned to achieve scientific integrity, objectivity and balance.

At the end of this conference, participants will be able to:

- describe national and international efforts to address ageism, mental health, and human rights of older adults;
- facilitate discussions about legal and ethical challenges related to seniors' mental health; and
- appraise and balance the value of recent advances in research and clinical care of older adults with mental health issues.

Times and session details are subject to change.
